AUDITORIUM PLANS WILL BE PUSHED

MANY OFFERS OF ASSISTANCE

Organizations and Private Individuals in Generous Response to Request for Support of George Washington Memorial-Huge Convention Hall to Be Built in This City.

Mrs. Hénry F. Dimock, president of the George Washington Memorial Association, arrived in Washington yesterday, and is about to inaugurate an aggressive campaign in the interest of the association which proposes to erect in this city an immense auditorium as a tribute to the memory of the first President,

"I have come here," said Mrs. Dimock last evening, "to realize on the many assurances given me last spring by members of the Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, and other persons in Washington. Of course, nothing could be done during the summer, but the vacation period is now over, and we must take up the work of the association in earnest, so that we can go to Congress for the site for the hall during the present session. "We must do this thing right now. I have had many promises of support from persons in Washington who realize what a great auditorium would mean to the city, and I know that the promises will be kept. When I go to people in New York City and elsewhere for large donations to the fund I want to be able to say that Washington, which is the that gets the building, has done its full in the great patriotic movement. Mrs. Dimock has established headquarters at the Arlington and expects to re-

TO GET ANNULMENT

Count Boni the One Who Has Made the Application.

EXPECT THE POPE TO DECLINE

Both Prince and Princess de Talleyrand Understand Conditions-Do Not Think It Necessary to Be "Religiously" Married-Boni Desires Another American Alliance.

Paris, Nov. 12.-The Princess de Talleyrand, formerly Anna Gould, in an interview to-day gave her side of the story about an application having been made to the Vatican for the annulment of her marriage to Count Boni de Castellane in order that she might marry "religiously" her present husband, the Prince de Sagan. The duchess said:

"It is Boni who is seeking an annulment of the marriage. He applied for such annulment to the Vatican six months ago on the ground that I had made a mental reservation at the time of our marriage, as I was a Protestant. A few days ago he renewed the application, basing it on an alleged technical flaw in the ceremony, his object being to marry Miss Anna T. Morgan. All I have to say on the subject is that I advise Miss Morgan to get the details from my sister Helen concorning the purchase of land in Paris when Helen and my brother George were my guardians. If I can call anything mine in France it is due to my sister's lack of confidence in Boni. It is always best to take such an important step with one's eyes open."

Cannot Get Annulment. The duke and duchess seemed to be certain that the present Pope would never grant the annulment asked for by Count Boni. "There was a time," said the duchess, "when I offered Boni $30,000 a now that he refused. "Boni neglected no opportunity to an noy us," continued the duchess. When the ground on which this house is built his supplies until he signed a document transferring it to me. We doubt if you can buy these same shares 60 days from to-day at any such low price. Our oil lands in Kerr County, California, are owned in fee simple. All around us are big gushers, and oil lands are estimated as worth $20,000 an acre. Every oil well that flows 1,000 barrels of oil a day, and that is a reasonable average, will earn $15,000 a month, or $180,000 a year.

BUICK OIL COMPANY.

The United States Geological report for the year 1909 states that the United States produced in 1909 178,000,000 barrels of oil, and California produced 58,000,000 of this amount, or 331-3 per cent of all the oil produced, and outranked its nearest rival 14,000,000 barrels. The estimated production for this year is 63,000,050 barrels, which, at an average price of 50 cents per barrel, will amount to $31,500,000 in value, more than she received from all her gold mines.

The entire proven oil territory of California is 850 square miles. There are still stored in the ground of the United States Oil Fields, according to experts, 24,500,000,000 barrels of oil, of which California fields are credited with 8,500,000,000, or more than one-third. In the older oil fields, like Pennsylvania, the oil sands are only five feet thick, and the production is declining, while in California the sands are hundreds of feet thick, and the entire United States will have to eventually depend upon California for its supply. The value and long life of oil fields depend upon the depth of ered.
It is our firm opinion that the immense body of oil that lies beneath the surface of California's oil fields cannot be estimated.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

WRITTEN BY WILLIAM C. FREEMAN.

F. Irving Fletcher, a clever advertising writer as well as a much sought after contributor to publications because of his ability to write short stories, is intensely interested in the subject of advertising.

He comes to my home occasionally and we discuss advertising from every standpoint. I asked him the other day to write me a story on "Why Doctors Should Advertise." Here is what he sent me: Should doctors advertise? Emphatically, yes! The day is passing when a shingle and a smattering of Latin will suffice. Think of the doctors who, outside of a speaking acquaintance with materia medica, don't know any more about the science of medicine, broadly applied, than a woodpecker does about the rule of three. Get it out of your head that the medical profession has not the same proportion of incompetents as any other profession. There are good plumbers and bad, good doctors and had. And don't overlook the fact that, whilst a man can survive a bad piece of plumbing, a bad piece of doc toring is liable to finish him alto-

It is a profession in which there is no come-back. THIS IS REASON ENOUGH WHY A MAN SHOULD BE CAREFUL IN HIS SELECTION OF A DOCTOR, AND REASON ENOUGH WHY A GOOD DOCTOR SHOULD BROADMINDED ENOUGH TO TAKE THE PUBLIC INTO HIS CONFIDENCE. If I want to insure the title to my house, I employ a reputable title company. If I want to insure my life, I buy protection from a reputable insurance company. I know that such and such a title company advertises and is pledged to make good. I know the same of the insurance company.

Now, on the other hand, if my diaparagm slips a cog or my liver isn't on schedule time, what protec-tion have I? The first doctor available is called in. I don't know him. I don't know whether he intends to experiment on me or not. I don't know whether he will keep me in bed as long as he can, first because he needs experience, and second because he needs the money. When a man's appendix develops a tendency to be fashionable, is it not natural that he should want to employ the best talent available? Now, there must be a number of excellent doctors who have removed a large percentage of appendices-without moving their owners. Who are they and where do they live?

Undignified for doctors to advertise? Nonsense. IT IS A DUTY. If I were a doctor I would be ashamed to keep my mouth shut in face of the daily columns of obituaries.

And if it be argued that a doctor wants only a limited number of pa-trons, why should not half a dozen doctors, resident in one building, as they often are, undersign a plain, unvarnished statement of their records, methods, experience, hours, and fees? Some day, of course, when good doctors advertise, instead of "Dead of pneumonia at forty-three," the average obituary will run like this: "Died un-expectedly at 188-causes unknown." A GOOD DOCTOR IS A NECES-SITY, if only to show us the error of our ways of living. But why, instead of hiding behind a shingle and a fog of Latin, doesn't he come into the open and advertise? DOCTORS OF REPUTE in the different communities WOULD FIND IT TO THEIR INTEREST TO CONTRIB-UTE TO A FUND TO BE DE-VOTED TO ADVERTISING IN THEIR HOME NEWSPA-PERS. A series of interesting talks on the treatment of the ills of humanity, followed by the names and addresses and telephone numbers of the physicians contributing to the fund, would drive out all the quacks and give the good doctors a chance that they will never have unless they make their qualifications known to the peo-

Of course it would be necessary that every physician in the combination be qualified by EX-PERIENCE, PRACTICE, and KNOWLEDGE to be classified as a GOOD, RELIABLE DOC-
